SAVE TIME! SAVE LABOUR! SAVE CANDLES SAVE STEEL! SAVE HAMMERS! AND SAVE MONEY by USING THE GIANT POWDER.

. It saves life and accidents, as it is tamped with water, and saves all the risk of boring out missed holes. It saves time, as it strikes downwards as well as upwards, and creates the rock much more than any other powder does.

It saves abour, as one man with a 1-inch drill and 31-ib, hummer could do as much as two men with larger drills.

lb. hammer could do as much as controlled drills. If saves half the candles. It saves half the candles. It saves steel and hammers, as only about half the weight of sicel is required to drill the holes, and the small hammers do not wear out or get broken as much as the larger hammers.

It saves half the expense of sharpening drills.

It saves rents on Government leases, as a mine can be worked out in half the time.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.

The value of this well known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FITTY YEARS. Its well-searned extensive such has induced SPURIOTS INITIATIONS, some of which in OUTWARD APPEARANCE so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such initiations.

Purchasers are, therefore, requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—

J. In every case the world JOHN STREDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp silized to RACE PACKET.

MESSRS. J. M. CROSBY AND CO., CHEMISTS, Scarborough, writes as follows:

"9th September, 1872.

"James Hudson, Burr Bank, Scarborough, having suffered eight years from scurvy, ulcerated sikele, and abacces, and having taken six bottles of your world-famed Blood Mixture, is perfectly cured. He had spent pounds in doctors and chemists' medicines previously, and he is narious that the properties of such a valuable medicine should be more known."

CURES OF SORRS OF FOUR YEARS' STANDING.

"I, Cross-street, Ryde, Isle of Wright,
"16th November, 1872.

"Dear Sir,—My wife has taken nine bottles of your world-famed Blood Mixture. When she commenced, half of her face and cycbrows were covered with sores, brought on by fright about four years ago. She has peen under the treatment of six different doctors, and all of no good, but since taking your Blood Mixture, all the sores are gone. I am thankful that I heard of your medicine, and only wish I had years before.

"I am, sir, your obedient servant,

CURE OF SCROFULOUS SORES.

"Trimity-street, Smethwick, near Birmingham,
"30th July, 1872.

"Mr. Clarke.—Sir,—My husband, I am glad to say, is quite cured, and is now able to attend to his business. His complaint was serofulous sores; and he had been bad about eight years. He went to several doctors, and spent many, pounds in trying different remedies, but still grew worse, and had kept his bed for the last two years, except a few hours at intervals. The discharge from the sores made him so weak, every one thought him in a consumption. We tried to get him in several institutions, but they would not admit him, as I believe they thought him past cure. The sores extended nearly all over his back and chest. It took one hour each day to dress the wounds, and the pain almost took his reason away. Nothing did him any good until we heard of your Blood Mixture. My husband is well known here; he is a house-agent and collector. The people are quite astonished, and it has induced many to try the Mixture. You are at liberty to make any use of this you please. Accept our grateful thanks.—I am, very respectfully.

EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF SKIN DISEASES, Mrs. Newcomb, Friesthorpe, near Market Rasen. 14th January, 1871. "Cured of a very bad skin disease, after having spent over £100 in medical advice in the neighbourhood."

SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring worms, Scald Hauda, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Ited, Scarfa, Discolorations of the Skin, Humours and Discoses of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally carried out of the system in a short time by the use of this world-famed Medicine.

IMPORTANT ADVICE TO ALL.

Cleanse the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, cruptions, or sores; cleanse if when you find it obstracted and sluggish in the veins; cleanse if when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

After twelve monthe' experience in making allowance to those who perferred to pay for their fud on or before delivery, we feel warranted in believing, from the increased success that has attended our operations during that time, and from the general approval of a large number of our costomers, that it will be a mutual benefit to carry on our retail business in future entirely upon the ready-actions will be POR CASH ONLY AT REDUCED RATES. Batifactory arrangements will be made with old customers, but no fresh retail accounts can be opened.

We are happy to state that all through the strikes we have been enabled to meet increased demands at a reasonable advance on ordinary rates; for aithough we might have sold our large stock in one lot for cash at an enormous profit, we preferred considering the convenience of our contomers, feeling sure that our sacrifice would be appreciated in the future. Our study will be, as ever, to meet the wants of all customers by keeping the best articles obtainable, and selling as cheaply as possible for ready money; but at the mane time we must still leave the public to decide the difference between a ton of coal at a fair price, and 15 or 17 cept. at a low price, for we do not intend to compete with unprincipled dealers, who thus (in the absence of any law to prevent if) make much larger profits than we do.

On the motion of Mr. Darvan, a select committee was appointed to inquire into and report upon the case of senior-constable Tana, and his claim to be placed on the Police Superannuation fund.
The Bouse then went into Committee for the furthes consideration of the Prince Alfred Hospital Bill.
The debate on the proposed constitution of the Board of Directors was resumed and clauses 5 to 10 inclusive were smended so as to exact that the Board shall consist of fifteen members, three of them to be minimized by the Government, ten to be elected by the subscribers, and the other two to consist of the Chancellor and Desn of Faculty of Medicine of the University. Half of the elective members to resist annually, but to be eligible for re-election. It was also enacted that the present directors shall hold office until the Hospital is open, and for thirteen months thereafter.

The remaining clauses were verbally amended and agreed lo.

A new clause was added, on the motion of Mr. Straward, reserving to Parliament power to alter or smend the Act.

The fall was then reported with amendments, and the third reading was sprounted for Tuesday next.

The House next went into committee to consider the amendments made by the Legislative Council in the L. der Easte Bill.

A pretracted debate took place in reference to the objects of the bill generally, and its opponents, who were in a minority, made numerous attempts to get it shelved, by alternate movements for a count out, and resolutions for disagreeing with the amendments of the Legislative Council.

Divisions showed majorities of 20 to 8, 23 to 7, 18 to 7, 17 to 7, 17 to 3, and 17 to 3 against the opponents of the bill.

A count out was at last effected at twenty-three minutes past 2 a.m., and the House was then adjourned by Mr. Speakers until 4 p.m. on Monday next.

A wase legislator will look beyond the present bearing of a point debated, and decide accord-ing to its nature and general tendency. The great enlargement of the suffrage makes in specially importent that the organization by which it is collected shall be perfect. It is not desirable to offer special facilities to the idle and ignorant who, save in the paroxysm of an election, never have the smallest care about who is in and who is out-electors who, when who is in and who is out—electors who, when their votes are wanted, consider them as a property to be disposed of to the best bidder. It is said that the mercantile and trading classes are indifferent to their votes—that they do not therefore deserve to possess them. If they find the power passing from their hands, it is doubtful whether their impotence is a public loss. The accusation, however, is to a large extent unfounded. Universal suffrage, though it does not destroy the influence of property. founded. Universal suffrage, though it does not destroy the influence of property, diminishes in full proportion its electoral power. At the beginning it scarcely exercises its due numerical weight, but when the effertuescence of political life mbsides, the disposition to listen to those who have a large interest. with their relations, is likely to have, if no with their relations, is likely to have, if not its due weight, a considerable constraining and cerreting authority. It is, however, apecially important that electors should have fair time given them to make a choice. Thus, when we find that an appeal to the country can be made upon a question which must be decided by vote within two or three days, we have a right to believe that it is intended to urprise the country and to prevent its voice eing heard. In no case, therefore, should a being heard. In no case, therefore, should a general election take place until after a fair notice. In the choice of candidates for the Upper House, it is perfectly unnecessary to hurry an election. Time, therefore, should be given in every case sufficient to collect the opinion of the country on the merits of candidates. It is equally proper that all sham elections should be discountenanced; especially that no man should be proposed without a declaration of his willingness to stand, either by himself or by his attorney. We have known citizens who take no public part in affairs made candidates against their consent, and in derision. Thus to give a scamp an opportunity to spout his absurdities, the country was put to additional expense. Surely this is no: liberty; it is the grimsee of the mountebank.

expense. Surely this is no: neerly, the primace of the mountebank.

We quite concur in the statesmanlike view of Mr. Pankes of his duty, namely, to accept the intelligence of a whole nation like England as a guide rather than any predilections of his own. Where a great principle is involved in the usual audit. Parliament, which his own. Where a great principle is involved in the usual audit. Parliament, which has been petitioned to refuse the application, will not only have to consider the goardian of a great party, a statesman may be expected to go with his party though he may entertain some doubts of his policy; but when he finds a great nation adopting a certain course to conserve the morals of the people, and to enable them to perform their duties as electors, he certainly is to be commended for receiving with respect and deference the re-ult of their convictions. In paying respect to the Parliament of England, Mr. Parkes is to the Parliament of England, Mr. Parkes is only doing what is done by every statesman in the world. It has the highest authority of any political body in existence. It has held it leng, and it has become the guide and standard of every people in search of liberty. We often read in foreign newspapers reports of the debates in France, in Spain, in Italy, in America, and the references to the practices of Parliament, and to the rules of election laid down by the Parliament of England, are quoted every day in the year. They are quoted incessantly in France. Even terms which have had a peculiar meaning in England are adopted by other nations. At the present moment we have a Parliam volume entitled a "Parliamentary Inquest" on the war, although at present there is only a General Assembly. In fact foreign nations would to a great extent be unable to make themselves intelligible in political affairs, if they did not use terms the meaning of which has been undergood from the practice of England. the practice of England. In England, however, there has been shown no indisposition to adopt improvements founded on colonial experience. There have been recent statements of the result of the been recent statements of the result of the ballot in occasional elections, one especially in England and another in Ireland. The successful candidate originally unfavourable to the ballot has given a strong opinion on its benefits and operations. It divides the people according to their inclinations. Those who like a "row" can make one still. They can take their bludgeons, shillelnhs, and boxers; but they will not be able to prevent men from giving their votes, nor hinder candidates, although they may not choose to appear on the hustings from being proposed to the electors.

The clause requiring the written nomination of a candidate by a certain number of electors was only of value in small constituencies. In large ones there could be no difficults anywhere of extinct of the control of the control of extinct of the control of the control of extinct of the control of the control of the control of extinct of the control of the control of the control of extinct of the control of the culty snywhere of getting ten fools to unite ir the homination of a greater one. Where an electoral district is extensive, it may be assumed that no impediment to the public chiece will be effered by any contrivance; but it is certainly a question whether in any amendment of the electoral law there should not be some gauges of sincerity required in those who put the country to expense.

We believe it will be quite possible to simplify the preliminaries of elections. It is necessary first to ascertain who have a right to vote, and then to facilitate, as far as possible, their recording it. Long ago it was suggested wish istrong recommendations that every man should claim to be a voter before he should be made one by lodging a notice of his claim in signature and to be a voter before he about on mide one by lodging a notice of his claim in some public office. This might be made in some such form as this—notice to the Clerk of Petty Sessions, registrar of births, &c., or postmatter, or such other officer as may be appointed. John Smith, electoral district No. pointed. John Smith, electoral district No. 2, qualification, No. 1, or 2, or 3, stating residence, &c. These papers would be all forwarded to be in the first mainter published as at present, and then a complete certificate would issue to the party claiming the vote. This would have to be produced at the election booth and be stamped by the Returning officer, and returned to the ductd at the election booth and be stamped by the Returning-officer, and returned to the voter. If lost it could be replaced upon cer-tain conditions; to be produced at every suc-ceeding election and stamped in the same way, and thus to remain as a permanent title to vote, requiring no new publication. New voters eculd make their claim and be declared electors in the same manner as the first. The advantage would be that a reasonable servitive. advantage would be that a reasonable scrutiny could be made into the qualifications of voters which cannot be made, as the whole mass have to sequire their title to vote every year, and to depend upon the accuracy of the collectors. No man is sure to have his vote recorded at present on the roll unless he is very vigilant. We have had a great outery against what has been called the bad faith of the collectors under the present system. We repeat that it is not the interest of the country at all that men who will not take the trouble to secure a vote should dispose of the lives and properties of their fellow-citizens. THE proposal to get Parliamentary authority for increasing the indebtedness of the city has had the effect of drawing an unusual amount of attention to the state of the Corporation finances. Casual statements have not been unfrequent of late to the effect that the been unfrequent of late to the effect that the money department was not in a satisfactory condition, and indeed one rejected candidate at the last Ward elections, and who had been an auditor, described them as in a condition nothing better than one of in colvency. However, as the Corporation has continued to pay its way, as its debentures are at a premium, and as no proposal has been made for increasing the annual taxes, the citizens have not taken much notice of

Nor would there have been snything this year to disturb the usual serenity, if the Corporation were a sovereign power and able to do as it pleased. Its credit is good, and capitalists, hard up for an investment, are still willing to lend. But it is only a limited and not willing to lend. But it is only a limited and not an atsolute oligarchy. Parliament, which called it into being, has given it only the liberty of a chained eagle; and with the utmost confidence in its own wisdom and prudence, has not the same confidence in the wisdom and prudence of the smaller municipal Legislatures that it patronises. As unlimited borrowing power the City Corporation was not trusted with, but it has been endewed with this delightful prerogative up to the extent of a hundred thousand been endewed with this delightful prerogative up to the extent of a hundred thousand pounds. At the time this sum was fixed it was thought ample; but the money has all been swallowed up, and the Council appears at the door of Parliament like hungry OLIVER, "saking for more." It is not, however, by the unanimous wisk of the corporate body that this attitude is assumed. A large minority, amounting almost to half, deprecates the application to the Legislature for fresh borrowing powers—contends that the money is not wanted for any necessary purpose—reminds the citizens that much of the existing debt has been unwisely incurred, and warns them that a fresh loan will most assuredly be followed by fresh taxes. Such statements, followed by fresh taxes. Such statements, coming on such authority, compel attention, and it will undoubtedly be necessary that, before more borrowing is sanctioned, the Corporation accounts should undergo an investiga-

any financial difficulties into which the Corpora-tion finances may get involved.

The relations between the General and the City Treasuries have for years past been on an unsatisfactory footing, and perhaps it is as well that circumstances have occurred to compel Parliament to consider the state of affairs. There is an annual endowment of affairs. There is an annual endowment of ten thousand pounds, not a penny of which ever finds its way into the city coffers. Strictly, this sum ought to pass through the City Treasurer's books, to be received by him and paid back as interest of debentures. But the Colonial Treasury, doubtful whether if it once parted with the money it would ever see it again, has always taken the precaution to intercept it. Of course in one sense it is as broad as it is long, and the city is none the poorer for having the interest on the guaranteed debt paid for it by the guaranter out of funds that the said guarantor has to its credit. But the mischief of it is that the Corporation seems to consider itself defrauded by this detention of its dues, and has the Corporation seems to consider itself defrauded by this detention of its dues, and has been in the habit of borrowing an equivalent amount in order to make good the deficiency. It is obvious, however, that this is very much like going into debt for current expenditure. Debt is juitifiable enough under certain circumstances, either for permanent works which will return an income, or for extraordinary expenditure which requires to be spread over a term of years. But to borrow for ordinary street repairs or for any of the other common charges for which the common revenue ought to be equal, is a fatal process which must sooner or later end in disaster. The limit of the borrowing power may not be in sight at the present moment, but it must be reached sooner or later, and no prudent or patriotic alderman would deliberately push the city on to face such a crisis.

It may well be supposed, however, that a proposal to which a majority of the aldermen are favourable must have something to be said in its favour. They and those who support them argue that the City of Sydney has hever received from the general Government the same consideration that the City of Melbourne has done in Victoria, while the same a much wore limited; and of Melbourne has done in Victoria, while its revenues are much more limited; and that its endowments are not equal to its deserts when its population and its contributions to the general revenue are taken into account. These are fair arguments to use, and they are strong if they are proved to be sound. It is almost essential to the reputation of the colony that the metropolis should be kept in good order, and this cranct be done unless adequate funds are obtainable from some quarter or other. But even admitting that there may be grounds for an appeal to the Legislature to reconsider the City endowment, that does not justify the adoption year after year of an unhealthy system the City endowment, that does not justify the adoption year after year of an unhealthy system of finance, nor the annual increase of debt, simply to discharge current expenses. The request now made to the Legislature is not that injustice may be removed, and that justice may be done, but simply that the Corporation may be allowed to get deeper into debt. There is no proposal put forth for a thorough and first adjustement of disputed accounts, nor is there any suggestion for putting the revenue on a new footing. The request is confined mainly to a permission to borrow, in other words, to go on committing what has hitherto been a fatsl mistake.

The request to have the sewerage law amended is one to which no exception can be

The request to have the sewerage law amunded is one to which no exception can be taken. The debt on this account has always been largely unproductive. For a long time the rate was not levied at all, then it was only helf levied, and now we are told that through defect in the Act the rate cannot be enforced. The water works pay their way, and interest on the additional works that are proposed may probably be secured by a very slight addition to the present rate. But the sewerage has from the first been a burden on the revenue, in spite of which, however, almost every year has witnessed some addition to the debt on this account. There are half a dozen systems of sewers, only one of are half a dozen systems of sewers, only one of which was the work of the City Commissioners. From considerations of health and convenience, Frem cobsiderations of health and convenience, demands for house drainage have been pressed on the Corporation. But the debt thus created has not been balanced by a corresponding revenue, and of course, the effect has been to enhance the financial difficulty. It is quite unwarrantable to go on year by year after this fashion, and it is quite time that those concerned should call a halt, and have the whole question of the metropolitic finances submitted

TALKING AGAINST TIME.—Talking against time TALKING ACAINST TIME.—Talking against time has now become a favourite amusement of several homosphe metables of the Legislative Assembly, and it has come to be supposed, that it is the duty of the minority not to submit to the decision of the majority, but to inflict upon the mall the inconvenience and injury in their power. The present diffuse has, perhaps, more than any of its predecesses of high years, shown a disposition to attend to business, if we have judge from the large number of gentlemen who are to be found in their places five nights of the week, and who demonstrate that it without nutranging to the ness, if we knay judge from the large number of gentlemen who are to be found in their places also neights of the week, and who cemmonly admit without numuring, to the twoddle and buflooderly shigh it is often faster lot to endure. It may be supposed that any future Government will hesitate long before they ask the Haush to grant an additional sitting day, for the more government will hesitate long before they ask the Haush to grant an additional sitting day, for the more government will hesitate long before they ask the Haush to grant an additional sitting is beginning to have a ruinous effect upon the health of all whose duty or inclination requires them to be in censtant attendance in the Assembly. If the precent protected sitting is beginning to have a ruinous effect upon the health of all whose duty or inclination requires them to be in censtant attendance in the Assembly. If the precent tactics be continued, constituencies will have to select representatives for their physical powers of endurance rather than for any intellectual or political qualifications they may possess. On the 21st of January, Loder's Estate Bill was read a second time in the Logislative Assembly on a division in which 23 members voted for the bill and 10 against it. Since that date it has lean under consideration in the Logislative Council, where some annualments were made. These amendments were most in the House with into a chimiter upon them at 6 c clock has hight, and from that holy until about hal-past 2 o clock this morning, a tew hen, grattlemen contrived to talk away the time on motions of adjournment. The object of the bill was pretty frierly discussed, as it had been on the second reading, but scarcely a syllable was uttered respecting the Council's amendment, which were supposed to be more immediately under consideration. Late in the sitting, asseptal homembers were estimated to the declayers of the hon members who might be in passession of the chair.

WILFUL OBSTRUCTIONS OF STREET TRAFFIC.—Accidents are continually occurring from the culpable negligence of the drivers of vehicles in our principal streets. Among the canses of danger to life and time of many and beast, and of damage to vehicles, are instensive driving, or more properly, no driving at all. Sometimes one who should be a driver, allows a horse to choose his own way through a crowded thoroughfare, that he may can be present in his journey. Men of this class show an unacchantable preference for the middle of the road, or as the Socks would have the for "the croom of the canseway," which they persist in attempting to preserve, at the risk of coming into collision with alower-going vehicles which may have gained the covered position before them. There is but little courtesy among the men employed in our street traffic. If they were only manifesting a want of the dignity they believe to be requisited in the paramit of heir duties. Others may give way, but they would never be guilty in study a such as weakness. DRATE BY DROWNING.—The Brisbane Courier gives the following particulars of the drowning of the beatswain of the steamer Queensland:—A sad secidest, securities in the death by drowning of William Meade, beatswain on board the steamer Queensland, occurred about 12 o'clock on Monday night, at the A. S. N. Company's wharf, Brabane; and an inquiry into the circumstances of the case was opened by Mr. J. Petric, J.P. John Milsen, master of the Queensland, cartified to the identity of the body, and gave evidence as to the time when the secident was reported to him. Thomas Williams, a seaman belonging to the Queensland, deposed: Last night I was on watch an board the steamer, and at five minutes to 12 o'clock I was speaking to the wharf vatchman: the decreased, who had been speaking to another man, left the vossel by the gangway, to go ashore; we beaut a splash, and I ma to the gangway; got a rope, and want with it to where I had heard the splash; the decreased rose to the surface, and gave a little bit of a cry; I threw the rope to him; but he sum again financiately, and I did not see him again fill he was taken out of the water, about twenty misutes afterwards, by means of the grappling-irons, which were at once put into requisition. When the body was brought on board it presented no signs of life, though still a little warm; we sent for the doctor, who arrived in half-m-hour; in the meantime, we rubbed and rolled the bidy, but with no result; there were some slight scratches on the nose, and I think the deceased mant have struck his head against the wharf in falling of the gangway. Thomas Kelly, a seaman belonging to the Queensland, gave corrobornitive evidence, stating that deceased was solver at the time of the accident; that there was a mark on the treast, as if the deceased that the doctor arrived in a quarter of an hour. The Labourers in Wealing Escalar.—The condition of the agricultural labourer (asys the European Mail) is existing some attention. Like the miner and others he is at war with capital, and as the latter does not seem inclined to accede to his demand, he is turning his attention to emigration. In answer to the doubt whether "his condition is not really better, and his wages generally higher, than has been represented," Hr. Daintree, the Agent-General for Queensland, gives some important testimony. He says in a latter to a contemporary:—"There can, I think, be no better trat of the insufficiency of wage (whatever it may be) in the Midland and Western counties than that nineteen in twenty of the agricultural laboures from those districts who wish to emigrate to Queensland are quite unable to raise El, the only payment necessary for that purpose. Whatever may be the temporary value of migration to alleviate this condition of thange, it is certain, as pointed out by you, that emigration to our colonies is the most tikely to lead to the future well-being of these of this class tensioning in the 'old country."

The Governor objected to receive the resignation of the Premier alone, holding that his resignation involved the position of the whole Ministry. Mr. Waterhouse declined to accept this view of the case, and refused to let the Governor leave in the Government steamer Luna. Eventually the matter was settled by the acceptance of Mr. Fox.

The whole question of resignation is a personal one between Mr. Waterhouse and Mr. Vogel. The former felt that Mr. Vogel was the master mind in the Cabinet.

The Glabeaville Lunatic Hospital...—"Anglo-Australian "I writes in the Europeen Mail:..." The Lancet make a very careful summary of the report furnished by the medical superintendent of the hospital for the insane, Gladeaville, New South Wales, to the Calendal Secretary. I note that 'isolation, and the limited range of sympathy which individuals, especially new-comers, experience even in the towns of new colonies is said to be a cause of insanity. Surely this sannot be correct, for it is generally held that the hand of good fellowship always is held out to the new-comer. That a man should languish, even to the verge of insanity, for the want of 'sympathy,' in a country where every true labourer is of value to the general community, is a circumstance almost difficult of belief, and one likely to affect the tide of emigration if its full force were understood. Speaking of our colenies at a meeting of the agricultural labourer, mear Lesmington, Mr. Edward Jenkins said.—'The agricultural labourer, when he emigrated to one of these, arrived in a place where he was practically at home, where there was the same language, manners, and customs to which he had been secustomed, all those liberal institutions which he had been accustomed, all those liberal institutions which he had been accustomed, all those liberal institutions which he had been see thome, that country.' Now, if this gentleman should once eatch the idea that several emigrants had become insane for want of 'aympathy' he would be sure to make the most of it when next he addressed a meeting of agricultural labourers."

It was hoped that the late Canference would have agreed to a combined subsidy for a daily European message, but that having failed, our Ministers have since been appealed to by the Press to place a sum of ten or twelve thousand pounds upon the Estimates, for the purpose of subsidising a free daily telegram. The difficulty which at once suggested itself was, that if Victoria alone paid for the message, the other colonies would secure all its advantages for nothing, and the gentlemen of the Press here have not yet been ablette show how this is to be prevented. However, the Cabinet are to consider the matter, and to come down to Parliament, on its assembling, with some definite policy on the subject. They are also considering the question of abolishing the postage on newspapers.

with some definite policy on the subject. They are also considering the question of abolishing the postage on newspapers.

The boarding-out system, as applied to the children of our industrial achools, seems likely to be fairly tested by experiment. The ladies throughout the colony appear to have taken the matter up in a very proper spirit, and about forty committees have been formed, of which about one-half are sufficiently organised to enable them at once to take charge of some of the children, and place them in homes which are ready to receive them. About a hundred offers to take children on the Government terms have been received by these committees already, and there is no debt that the number will soon be doubled. Your readers know, I dare say, that Mr. Morts process of preserving ment by freezing it is not the only one which has been devised to secure a similar end by similar means. Mr. James Harrison of this city, whose patent is now, and for some years has been worked for supplying Melbourne with ice, has also a freezing invention for meat preservation. He demonstrated its practicability at the late Industrial Exhibition, but still it has been doubted whether it could be carried out of a sufficiently large scale, and throughout a voyage to England to make it remunerative. In order to thoroughly test this question it was proposed to raise a sum of £3500, and that amount has now been subscribed in sums varying from £40 to $100, and an meeting is to be held on Thurday next, at which Mr. Harrison will be present to determine what is the meat best thing to be done. Mr. Harrison does not propose to encase whole carcases in cylinders reduced to a freesing temperature, but the meat cut into quarters and joints is reduced to a frozen condition, and decay thereby interospted.

The average stater put down in his adjustment the seven or eight hundred pounds which the agents claimed as commission at 5 per cent, and it was held that this was an asknowledgment of the claim, and that it bound the shippers in terms of the agreement made on their behalf by the banks. The underwriters have therefore to pay the 5 per cent, although the point at issue was not vouched by the verdict, and will probably have to be fought over again when another wreak occurs, and the same per centage is claimed upon the salvage. As a further precaution against these aggravated losses, the Underwriters Association have recently adopted some new regulations adapted to facilitate the recovery of wrecked property.

The Roman Catholic body have taken the first step in the way of open hostilaty to the Education Act. The clergy are determined not to part with their control over the education of the children of their denomination if they can get the laity to cooperate with them, but their success has been very partial at present, as a large number of the laity are disposed to acquisece in the provisions made by the Act for the instruction of the people. Last Sunday the foundation stone was laid of a school fer girls, which is intended to be conducted by Sistera of Marcy, and if funds can be provided, a school for boys is also to be built, in which the Christian Brothers are to be the teachers. The absence from Sunday's cremonial of all the leading Catholic politicians was considered significant. The preacher was the Rev. Father Kelly, an active and eloquent man, who declaimed against all educations as being dangerous unless conducted through the Church. The tenor of his discourse may be inferred from the assertion that the revival of letters and the work of the Reformation "threw back civilization and the progress of intellectual culture for two thousand years by calling on the peoplet display of matters about which they could know nothing."

We dined at the table d'hote at 6.30, and again found it necessary to air our French, for the waiter who attended to us did not understand English. In the evening, at the instance of one of our fellow-travellers, I was persudded to go to the opera, and (tired as I was enjoyed the music and singing very much. The opera produced that evening was the Hugusquots, the representation being, in every respect, admirable, the mise en sche good, and music and singing excellent. It was late before the whole performance was over. The opera house at Cairo is a very fine building, both as to its caterior and interior. The interior is elegantly fitted up. I observed that there was a special box for the Viceroy, and three, enclosed with gaize, for the Ladies of the Harem, who are said to be very numerous.

ierior and interior. The interior is elegantly fitted up. I observed that there was a special box for the Viceroy, and three, eaclosed with gauze, for the Ladies of the Harem, who are said to be very numerous.

On the 11th of December, our party visited thei Mosque of Teyloon, and were afterwards taken to the citadel, which is said to occupy the site of the Acropolis of the ancient town of Babylon in Egypt, not far from the Nile. From this spot we had a fine panoramic view of the city of Cairo. Here we saw the Mosque of Mehrmet Ali, almost entirely built of alabaster, and elaborately ornamented. This is one of the sights of Cairo, and, as such, it is of course honoured with a full and florid description in the guide-books.

In the afternoon we went to the Balbec Museum, where we were much interested in the large collection of relies found in the Pyramids, in the tombs, on the banks of the Nile, and elsewhere in Historic Land of Egypt. I saw here a remarkable carving in wood, representing a Buddhist priest. This figure stands about four feet high, and is, on the whole, well proportioned, except that there is a characteristic tendency to obe sity. The work is perfect as a copy of "Nature's best design;" and it resembles the modern Buddhist priest as exactly as it did two thousand years ago, when, as we were told, it was executed. Touching these antiquities, one cannot help being sometimes rather sceptical as to dates; but a few centurics, more or less, are not, I suppose, of much consequence when onegets amongst such old remmants of ancient skill. The eyes of the figure were very carefully formed, being composed of vivry and crystal. We spent more than an hour in this museum, which is kept up by the Egyptium Government, and enriched from time to time by tresh discoveries, as they are made in the great valley of the Nile.

Leaving the museum, we went for a long ride to the ancient but now obliterated City of Heliophis. There is here an obelisk; and it was, of course, very interesting to stand of his proposition th and this oversight of the angry king cost us a long and weary ride.

On one way back we dismounted to visit an ancient sycamore, under which the Virgin Mary, St. Joseph, and the Child Jesus are said to have rested. It is doubless a very old tree, and all I tan say is that if it has seen 2000 summers it bears its age very well. The trunk looks very old, but the upper branches have all the appearance of perennial vigour. During our ride homewards we passed by palaces belonging to the Viceroy to his Highness's son, and to one of his daughters in law. We saw siso a fortress captured by the First Napoleon when he was General of the french army in Egypt.

Associated as the very name of Cairo is with all our traditions of the East, it is curious to see how greatly its Oriental character has of late years been invaded by European ideas, and its aspect and the manners and customs of the people altered by the advance of civilization. Whole streets in Cairo are now perfectly European in their appearance, and year by year European ideas are continuing to usurp the place of the "bld world" ways. After our return to our noted we dired and some our cour process in the surpless of the "bld world" ways. After our return to our noted we dired and some of cour noted and rested and some of cour noted we dired and rested and some of cour noted we dired and rested and some of cour noted we dired and rested and some of cour noted we dired and rested and some of cour noted and rest pean in their appearance, and year by year European ideas are continuing to usurp the place of the "old world" ways. After our return to our hotel we dined and rested, and some of our party went off to the Freuch comedy. I contented myself (like Monsieur Jourdain) with Freuch prose, and got on to the satisfaction of all parties, until I retired for a good night's rest before my anticipated visit to the Pyramids. On the morning of the 12th of December, at 8.30, we started in three well laden carriages for the Pyramids, and crossed the Nile by a fine bridge to the western side of the river. The road—to within a mile or two of the Pyramids—is very fair, and is pleasantly shaded by avenness of trees. One of the drags got "stuck up" on the roughter pertion of the road, but the remainder of the party came to the rescue, and the whole corrège again moved on to the Village of Gizah, situated on a level space in the Libyan chain. What has been often remarked by tourists was noticed by all of us and that was that the Pyramids did not seem to increase in magnitude after we had approached within six miles of them. Thus, we were told, is attributable to their perfect symmetry of form. When, however, we arrived at the base of the Great Pyramid of Cheops, we were struck with a kind of awe at these vast masses of masonry. The first or Great Pyramid, according to General Howard Vyse, was, it will be renembered, the sephlebre of the King Cheops of Herodotus, the Chemmils of Diodorus, and the Suphia of Manetho. Its construction is said to have kept 100,000 men constantly employed for upwards of thirty years. Its height was 480 feet, and the base 764 feet square—in other words, it was three times the perpendicular height of St. James's steeple, and stood on an area about as large as the northern portion of our Hyde Park in Sydney. The outer slope or angle of this pyramid is nearly fifty-two degrees. From the base to the top the height appeared to be enormous—something that looking at the face of the giant structure, it would be qu

A little further on we came to the Temple of the Sphinz, which is built of bucks of granite brought from Syene, and in floored and ceiled with alabaster. This structure was suffrely hidden till General Howard Vyse removed the sand, and revealed another temple of ancient worship.

We now went to a house where refreshment was provided for the party. Those, however, who proposed to ascend the Great Pyramid took but a slight "preparative," as advised. Of course the whole conversation ran upon the Pyramids, and one of our party (Captain IL) had given us such details as had interested us all very much. Two ladies of our party determined to make the secont, and courageously achieved their spirited enterprise.

For a time the work was easy, but soon I was overtaken by the Arabs, one at each hand; and a little after I felt myself assisted in the rear, receiving, as I sprang from step to step, an impetus from behind. Then I would acquestions take a next, not free a rest, not from behind. Then I would sometimes take a rest, ny friendly aids complimenting me, in broken English, on the strength of my legs. As we continued our upward course, there was the frequent and courteous question, "How do you feel new, Masser!" But all those kind inquiries ended, as a matter of course, with the cry of "Good Masser, gio me baksheesh." When halfway up we had a long rest, and during the whole of that time baksheesh was the principal topic of conversation: "Atms! Alms! Hoksheesh ! Baksheesh!" It really seemed to be the universal ejaculation in Egypt.

Having taken a tolerably long rest, we again set forward, and after a while the whole of our (smaller) party reached the top; where, when we had regained our breath, we gave three cheens, which, it appears, is the usual thing to do. It is needless to say how greatly we enjoyed the extensive landscape.

It is singular that, although 447 feet above the surface of the plain, we experienced no symptoms of dizziness. As usual, an Arab ran down the Pyramid of Cheops and up the west one, to the very top, in 9 minutes and 30 seconds, for which he received a well-carned donation of six rupess. Our descent was far more gradual, but much more rapid than our toilsome secent. We went down by a series of leaps, in which we were aided by our Arabs, who conversed with us freely on their favourite topic. Several people met us on their favourite topic, so the several conditions of the huge pile we came to the entrance to the interior of the Pyramid. Three others bestides myself took each a candle and prepared to expendence the descended for a few feet through a passage about four feet high, and so high in the up feet I inch high.

Having duly refreshed ourselves, we paid ou civil and attentive Arabs, laughed at their English, wrote our commendations in their book, and set off again for Cairo, which we reached a about 5 o'clock p.m.

COLONIAL GOVERNMENT SECURITIES AS TRUST INVESTMENTS. TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Stil., The late Conference recommend that the Imperial Government be urged to pass a bill empowering the investment of trust moneys in Government colonial securities. The following, I think, will be their answer:—Certainty not, and for these reasons:—

1. Your Government securities are not payable to bearer.

2. If they are lost, stolen, or destroyed, they will only be reissued on the fullest indemnsty.

3. Trust that would suffer most, and which "should be specially cared for (I mean particularly the smaller trusts) would in overy reasonable probability be unable to procure this full and satisfactary indemnity.

4. The consequence may be, from many contingencies these debentures be lost, stolen, or destroyed by fire of otherwise. The trustees may be unable, and perhaps unwilling if able, to precure or give indemnities. Furnilies would incatentably be rained.

5. When the colonial Governments wisely follow the example set by Victoria, with $1,500,000 of their debt in inscribed stock, the Imperial Government might then consider our escurities a safe investment for trust underse.

6. The Government securities, as at present issued, are only convenient to the bankers and large moneyed colonisfa. They make a handsome profit by their exchanges—borrowing money from the public at 25 and 3 per cent, and pucchasing the Government securities at 2 or 3 per cent, profit on their borrowed money; it answers them, because they can give the required indemnity to the Governments, which the general public might find it very incoavenient to do in providing for those contingencies of debentures lost stolen, or destroyed—leaving to the banks and moneyed when a very profitable manopsly, to the lujury, if destring trusts for the widows and orphans, of the community at large.

I hold that such a state of things should not be, and that it is high time the consensult with the confidence of the state of the state of things should not be, and that it is high time the consensult with the confidence of the comm men a very profitable memopely, to the injury, if desiring trush for the widows and orphans, of the community at large.

I hold that such a state of things should not be, and that it is high time the general public be considered. At precent I ascert, and I profess to have some knowledge of business matters, that there is not in the colony "a prefer such street extension." The banks are traderedge of the companies more or less as. Home and landed property is that council to the companies more or less as. Home and landed property is ductuating and uncertaint, so that my assertion is self-evident. Our Government securities as at present, I have, I think, shown that they are not a safe trush investment. And why should this state of things be? It really would imply a reclassmass as to the general public convenience. The Government assens to be entirely engressed with the disc of how they can raise the meany they want—whether in the colony or in Ragland—but utterly regardless how they can supply heat the wants, and at the same subserve the interest, of the community at large. And whe should have their consideration more than the widows and orphans of that community?

I hope and trust the present Treasurer will at once get a bill passed to remedy this evil so long existing.

By telegram from Melbourne we learn that the Webb steamer Dakotah arrived at Auckland on the 4th instant, with California advices to February 4th. On that day the Liverpool wheat market was at 12s. 2d. to 12s. 4d., for Californian wheat, and 12s. 3d to 13s. 3d, for Club brand ditto. At the same date the New Yerk wool market was quiet.

The English advices received by the Ban-galore's mail have not produced much alteration in the import markets. Goods continue to arrive freely, and several cargoes now overdue will tend to increase sorplus stocks. The de-mand not being large at present, and the dull season approaching, induces some efforts to force sales. Breachstuffs were firm at last week's prices: 5s. 3d. to 5s. 4d. for Adelaide wheat, and £13 to £13 10s. for flour. Candles are firm at 11d. for best brands and 10½d. to 103d fortigned second quality. A shipment of wheat, and £13 to £13 10s. for flour. Candles are firm at 11d. for best brands and 10 dd. to 10 dd. for good second quality. A shipment or ceffee came to band per mail steamer, and a portion has since been placed at 11d. per lb. for plantation. There is no alteration in Dundree goods; an average month's shipment advised. A strong seasonable demand exists for preserved fish, and prices continue favouable to importers. Currants are rather quiet; other descriptions of dried fruits in better supply, but prices are still high. In groceries and oilmen's stores there was not much doing, either privately or by auction; prices unchanged. Liquors remain about the same; brandles still dull of sale; other spirits selling slowly, and all descriptions of beer commending extreme figures. The news per Bangalore of very small shipments of bottled caused higher prices to be asked for any parcels affont. 13s. 6d. to 14s. has been paid for trade lots on the spot. Metals are firmly held, buyers operating sparingly. There is very little doing in oils; sales of kerosene at 2s. to 2s. 1d. in bond. The rice market has received a shake by the sale of a parcel of Patna-at £18 10s. The recently arrived cargo of Japan has not yet changed hands. The scarcity of sugars is increasing; ration sorts have rarely been so scarce. White crystals have also improved. Teas are difficult to move, unless unprofitable prices are accepted. Two shipments were offered this week, and o move, unless unprofitable prices are accepted. I'wo shipments were offered this week, and ry little sold.

Messrs. Scott and Co.'s circular of January 8

Messrs. Scott and Co.'s circular of Jahuary of Ballers since our last has been greatly interrupted by the Christmas and New Year holidays and the cyclone, and comparatively little has been done. Greys have been in fair demand, principally for France, and prices have been firmly maintained. We continue to quote 6.0 to 6 35 dollars per 100 ths. for Nos. 12 to 16, Dutch standard; and 6.40 to 6 35 dollars for Nos. 14 to 15, equal to about 27s 6d per cwt.; cost and freight for 28s for Nos. 14, with exchange at the continue of quote 6.75 to 4.96 dollars per 100 lbs. for Nos. 8, 5 to 5.25 dollars for Nos. 9, 5 to 5.25 dollars for Nos. 12 and 13, equal to about 22s 9d per cwt., cost and freight, for No. 9, or 22s 9d for No. 12. SUPREME COURT.—Priday, March 14.

SUPREME COURT.—Priday, March 14.

SUPREME STEPMEN, C.J., Mr. Justice Hardorave, and Mr. Justice Farchty.

This was a question reserved for the opinion of the Court Irom the Quarter Sessions, Dubbo; before Mr. District Court Judge Josephson.

Mr. Solicitor-General appeared for the Crown; the prisoner was not represented.

Price the special case, as stated by the learned Judge, it appeared (briefly) that the prisoner, John Smith, was the driver of Webb's van carrying passengers from Bourke to Dubbo. The prosecutor, George Davis, and one Issae, or "Rey," Ibanegan had been mates for some three years, but Davis shobits were less sober than those of the other man, who was accustemed to take charge of his (Davis's) money for him, and return it as required. It would seem also that on two occasions he had taken small sums of money from his mate. They had been working at a sheep-station for some time, and Davis received a cheque for his samings. They left in Webb's van, driven by prisoner; smal upon arriving at a neighbouring village Davis changed his cheque and received cash and other small cheques, including one for £0 os. 84, which was form in two parts, and had some peculiar marks about the edges by which it was identified. At a subsequent stoppage, Davis, who was drinking freely, showed the cheque to several persons, and put it into his pocket-book. He became intoxicated and slept upon the soft of the public-house where they stayed; and next morning he found that this particular cheque (but not the others) was missing. He told the prisoner, and promised the soft of the public-house where they stayed; and next morning he found that this particular cheque (but not the others) was missing. He told the prisoner, and promised him found in him. Afterward Davis promised the hotters was arrested by a local police officer. At the watchbouse, upon being searched; but the missing security was not found on him. Afterward Davis promised to he heared, and t

When she arrived she had with her a portmanteau, affixed to which was a ticket bearing, the address in legible letters —"Mrs. Gore, at Mrs. Mair's, 140, Castlereagh-street," but she was informed by the stewardess that, in consequence of want of accommodation, she could not be allowed to retain when she arrived one and with her a portunancean, amned, to which was a ticket bearing, the address in legible letters—"Mrs. Gore, at Mrs. Mair's, 140, Costleragh-street," but she was informed by the stewardess that, in consequence of want of accommedation, she could not be allowed to retain it in the cabin. It was consequently removed on deck; and Chambers, seeing it lying on the after hatch, took it into the saloon. Shortly alterwards the passengers became apprised that some accident had happened which would preclude the vessel from leaving that night. A gentleman, believed to be Captain Trouton, the genpany's manager, came on board, and he sent his compliments to the captain of the Hero, a steamahip (not belomajur to defendants) lying alomeside, and requested him to take the Florence Irving's passengers, with their luggage, to their destination. To this the Hero's captain assented, and promised to wait half-an-hour for them. The steamyless then went to the ledies and told them to be quick and get on board the Hero. The captain of the Florence during also directed the luggage to be transhipped, and desiral the passengers to peint out their offects, in; order that they might be semawed. Several drumkards were fined.

Sarah. Ward, apprehended for disorderly conduct, was fined los,, and for making use of obscene language, she was ordered to pay as additional loss, in default, to go to gool for cleven days.

Margaret Wright, for being drunk and conducting herself in a disorderly manner at Waverley, was fined 20s, with the alternative of fourteen days imprisonment.

William Gallagher appeared before the Court on remand, charged with having obtained from James Martin the sum of £50, by means of false pretences. Mr. S. C. Brown appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Want for the defence. James Martin recall deposed: I did not go to defendant to purchase the share, Inset him accidentally and in the course of curversation he asked me if I would buy a shars in the City Bank mine, because I did not know that he was the owner of that mine; I told him that I would see about it, and on the next day I called at his house, and saw a plan of the nume; I afterwards bought a share, and paid him £50—an half the value of the claim: defendant, sone time after at acid me for the other £50, but I did not tell him that I would not pay it unless he gave me a larger share. I told Mr. Madden that I could only recognise one of the specimens: I will swear now that they are the specimens defendant shawed me; I de not know whether defendant has now an interest in the City Bank claim. Joseph 6, O'Conner, recalled, deposed: I wrote two lotters to defendant asking him to return the specimens and a few days after sending the last letter which was dated. Trift October, I received them back. By Mr. Brown: I had seen the specimens in Beard and Co.'s window before I wrote to defendant; I will not swear that a week did not intervene before I got the specimens back. Mr. Wast and Mr. Brown addressed the Bench, after which defendant was committed to take his trial at the next Court of gool delivery. Bail allowed, himself in 110, and one suret

MOSES and HOPKINS have been favoured with instructions from J. Hoskisson, Esq., to with instructions from J. Hoshisson, Esq., to sell by suction, on WEDNESDAY, 19th March, at 2 o'clock, at the Camperdown Sale Yards, 45 head of heavy draught colts and fillies, just arrived from Barrabs, in high condition

As Hoskisson's breed of draught horses is so well-known in all parts of the colony for the last 25 years to be decil and stanch in collar, we deem it almost unnecessary to make the alightest comment. But as his herd has not had a draught taken from it for the last 3 years, we are of opinion and it is justice to the owner to mention, for symmetry, size and condition, a better selection has never been offered for competition, and having been herd with care from well known. "Imported Sires," we confidently recommend it as worthy the attention of breeders, teamsters, draymen speculators, and others, not to allow such a chance to slip.

with galvanized roofing, wool shed, drafting yards, burdies, puddock, out-stations, &c., &c.

CULGARRA is situated in the DARLING DOWNS district, embracing an area of 87 SQUARE MILES, having a frontage to the Condamine River, and is also watered by Palm and other creeks. IMPROVEMENTS, consisting of out-stations, buts, yards, &c., &c.

The above stations are worked in conjunction with each other, and are only 30 miles apart, and being LIGHTLY STOCKED, present a good opportunity for a SAFE and REMUNERATIVE INVESTMENT; their situation at such a moderate distance from the Railway and FAT STOCK Magnets rendering them very DESTRABLE PROFERTIES.

The only reason of these stations being brought into the market is the determination arrived at by the proprietors to return to the neighbouring colony of Tassmania.

With the stations will be sold houses, necessary working plant, store, &c., &c., to be taken at a valuation in the usual way.

Further particulars may be obtained on application at "Neilybri," Condamine, Queenaland; or to place the condensity of the condensity, Condamine, Queenaland; or to MORT and CO., Circular Quay.

CARNARVON

and 1,300 Castle.

MORT and CO. have received instructions from Measts. Praser and Brown to sell by auction, at their Wool Warehouse, Circular Quay, os THURSBAY, the 17th April, at half-past 11 c'olork, Those first-class pastonal properties known as CARNARVON and EABBILOORA, embracing the watershed of the River Warrego, with an area of over 500 EQUARE. MILES of the most clevated and healthy country in footthern Quesniand, on which all necessary improvements have been pade; there are also about 18 miles wire fencing just completed.

The SHEEP consist of 14,176 ewes, 18 months to aged 11,947 wethere, 18 ditto to ditto 4499 weared lambs, mixed sexus 239 rems stallion.

The IMPROVEMENTS at CARNARYON consist of, in addition to the 18 miles wire fencing, a SUB-STANTIALLY BUILT DWELLING-HOUSE, of 8 rooms, floored throughout, with good versandahs of both sides, and spacious detached kitchen; excellent fruit and vegetable garden, woolabed roofed with galvanized iron, horse paddocks, and stock-yards; also stere, meathouse, with double-roof verandah all round, and pitched iron, horse peddecks, and stock-yards; also sters, mesthouse, with double-roof verandah all round, and pitchell with stone; stable, cart-shed, and blacksmith's forge, all in one range.

At BABBILOORA there is an overseer's cottage, including store and detached kitchen; large horse peddeck and stockward; and on both stations there are the usual sheepstetion improvements, and ordinary working plant.

THESE RUNS were selected by the present owners in 1858, and are for the most part held under leases for 21 years, from 1st July, 1869, with the usual right of renewal. The average elevation is about 2000 feet above the sea level, so that the CLIMATE IS HEALTHY. Vegetables in abundance are produced in the garden, which is stocked with choice fruit trees and grape vines, and possesses perfect means of irrigation. The means of transit of produce to port is comparatively easy, and the cost of carriage will be still further reduced when the Northers line of railway is extended, as intended, to within 130 miles of the head station Carnarvo, which is now about 230 miles distant from the present teminus at Westwood.

CARNARVON is one of the BEST WATERED runs in the colony, and BABBILOORA principally consists of

The well-known magnifecent estation, LiSTOWEL DOWNS,
together with 40,782 first-closes sheep.
The sheep have been bred with great care, and are of a very superior quality. The run was stocked originally freen the focks of Orwald Blozsome, of Banger's Valley, and R. A. Doundáson, of Tenterfield; and rums, the programy of Donaldson's imported sheep, have been introduced. Also runs from Talgai, Jondasyna, and Westbrock.
The country is principally magnificent undulating downs, covered with myall and salibush, and is permanently watered in all asseants by the Barcoo and Bullb Rivers; also by three (3) large dams. During the last drught, Listowel carried 75,000 sheep (vin. 56,000 the station property, and 10,000 belonging to a neighbouring run), and the increase of lazabs in the same year was over 30 per cent.
The Improvements.—A new paddock, five miles square, sineep and cattle proof, has just been completed, apart from which the improvements are first-class, and suitable for working the station in an effective and economical manner.
Three teams bullects, two horse beams, working horeotics, to be taken at a valuation.
